THE MYTHS AND MYSTERIES OF NFPA 921 - Expert

The primary purposes of a fire investigation is to establish the origin (seat) of the fire, determine the likely cause, and thus conclude whether the incident was accidental, natural or deliberate. It is vital to establish the cause to ensure similar events do not occur (in the case of natural or accidental) or to allow a legal investigation to be conducted (in the case of deliberate fires).

Fire Investigation – The Forensics Library Fire investigation is a two-part process. The first is the fire scene investigation and the second part is the analysis of the fire debris collected at the fire scene. The organization of this report reflects these two elements of an investigation. Both the Conclusions and Recommendations section and the technical sections are organized on this basis.

File Type PDF Technical Committee On Fire
